

The Little green Dinosaur

Long, long ago the Little Green Dinosaur hatched out of his egg and found himself alone in the forest.

'Where is my mummy?' squeaked the Little Green Dinosaur. 'I need to find her.'

So he set off through the forest.

First he met a fierce T Rex.

'Are you my mummy?' squeaked the Little Green Dinosaur.

'Not I,' said the fierce T Rex. 'I am a fierce T Rex.'

So he carried on over the hill.

Then he met a slow brontosaurus

'Are you my mummy?' squeaked the Little Green Dinosaur.

'Not I,' said the slow brontosaurus. 'I am a slow brontosaurus.'

So he carried on around the rocks.

Then he met a spiky stegosaurus.

'Are you my mummy?' squeaked the Little Green Dinosaur.

'Not I,' said the spiky stegosaurus. 'I am a spiky stegosaurus.'

So he carried on across the river.

Suddenly he saw a big green dinosaur.

'Are you my mummy?' squeaked the Little Green Dinosaur.

'Yes I am. I've been looking for you.'

And she gave him a great big hug.
